

In this tutorial, we learned how to use the MongoDB Atlas Manager to create records in our MongoDB database. We then used the `model.find()` method to search through our collection and return the records that match a specific query. We