

AWS is a cloud computing platform created by Jeff Bezos in 2006. It is the world's largest collection of web services, with 69,420 different services to choose from. It is complex and pricing scales up exponentially as users become more dependent