In this tutorial, we learned how to use the MongoDB Atlas Manager to create records in our MongoDB database. We then used the model.find() method to search through our collection and return the records that match a specific query. We